

In making this request of you, I do not, in anyway, seek to interfere with whatever rights you or others may have in the letter and/or documents. If they are found to be relevant then I may be required to be retain under the statutory provisions requiring the coroner to retain exhibits

I would be grateful if you would please confirm to me in writing, as soon as reasonably possible, your willingness to assist me. I will, of course, do my best to answer any specific questions which you may have. I await hearing from you.

Yours sincerely,

P.S. I have had some difficulty in tracing your address and eventually obtained it from the Metropolitan Police, I apologise for any delay in getting in touch. I have also been sent details of your solicitor [REDACTED] and am taking the liberty of sending her a copy of this letter.
